

Obama's Internet Police

August 4th, 2009 · Posted by Mz. VRWC ·

It's official now, the Obama Administration has created the Interwebs Police. On the whitehouse.gov's blog, there is now a post called "Facts are Stubborn Things" (irony alert), and it states:

“There is a lot of disinformation about health insurance reform out there, spanning from control of personal finances to end of life care. These rumors often travel just below the surface via chain emails or through casual conversation(emphasis mine). Since we can't keep track of all of them here at the White House, we're asking for your help. If you get an email or see something on the web about health insurance reform that seems fishy, send it to flag@whitehouse.gov.”

Um, they didn't just tell me to report my neighbor, co-worker, family member for having an opinion on the health care reform issue that doesn't match the Obama libtard propaganda, did they? Anyone else thinking Germany between 1933 and 1945? I don't think it's what they have in mind, but I'm going to take them up on this by sending them lots of website addresses like dailykos, Organizing for America and Moveon.org. Feel free to join in and overload their email with their own propaganda.
